

DECEMBER
2009

HELPING YOU BECOME AN INFORMED INVESTOR

YOUR MONTHLY

Economy Report

this issue:

- 1 Better Than Expected Employment Numbers
- 2 Good News for the Dollar, Bad News for the Market
- 2 Retail and Manufacturing Gaining Strength Slowly
- 3 Real Estate is Still a Loose Cannon
- 5 Optional ARMs, Shadow Inventory and Unmodified Loans
- 6 Las Vegas: Cash Flow for Buyers, Cooked Books for Banks
- 8 A Summary of the Real Estate Market
- 8 Can Gold Stay High? It's Complicated.
- 9 Keeping Your Perspective on Gold
- 10 Investment Guidance for the Season
- 13 The Underbelly of the Banking System
- 14 One Way to Turn Lemons into Lemonade

Dear Leslie,

I hope you have been enjoying my monthly newsletter on the economy. Click on Download report to read the December Economy Report, that I have just released. The December newsletter can also be accessed online.

A Fragile Recovery is Underway. Retailers are cautious, yet hopeful. Manufacturers are taking more orders. Unemployment numbers are improving, but not confident. This is a fragile recovery with plenty of room for error. Read the report and be prepared to move in the right direction if things start to slip.

Real Estate Still Dragging the Economy Down. Despite higher home prices in some areas, shadow inventory, resetting ARMS and unmodified loans tell a different story. Overly optimistic developers try to sell appreciation, but the best deals are still existing properties that deliver cash flow.

USD Leads Currency News. Better than expected unemployment numbers in November drove a US Dollar rally that was felt through all the currencies. At the same time, the stock market weakened and gold faltered. Read to see what's ahead for oil and uranium.

Cautious Consumers Lead the Way. 'Tis the season for generosity and retailers are being generous with discounts and deals. In return consumers are giving the economy a cautious vote of confidence with renewed purchasing for the holidays. Now, if the banks would just loosen up their lending....

Putting It All Together for Investing Guidance. Market weakness due to a stronger US Dollar takes us into tax loss selling season. Time to readjust your positions and prepare for early 2010 bargains. Read this month's report for detailed guidance on which sectors to watch.

Timely information has never been more important than right now. Be sure to take advantage of this valuable resource.

Mike Lathigee
CEO
Alliance Investment Solutions